Assautic Electropener: Gentiemen — For the past five years my wife has been a sufferer from dyappeds. So completely did the disease make a wreck of her former self that life was almost dewreth of her former set that the was almost de-stated of. Her nervous system was almost en-tirely destroyed, and the sitehtost noise would free her into a nervous speem, which would last for hears. Medical skill failed to bring any re-

Hef.

Through the recommendation of an eminout divice we were induced to try the Electropoise. After a persistent use of the instrument, the effect are been wenderful. Her nervous system has been restored to the almost normal condition; her a wonderfully improved; she is rapidly disection is wonderfully improved; sae is rapidly gaining in flesh; and, upon the whole, is making a rapid recovery, which apeaks volumes for the wanderful curative powers of the Electropoize, as her tene was considered hopeless. If any are skepiled en the subject, lot them try the Electropeize, and its wonderful powers will quickly dispel all deubt. Yours truly, W.M. PROPST.

The Trial of Ashley Howell. The trial of Ashley V. Howell, charged with the murder of Capt. W. J. McGrath, began at Warrenton, Ga., yesterday. On April 2 last Howell married Miss Ja ia De Health is Wealth! Beaugrine, one of the daughters of W. De Beaugrine. She wat one of eaveral eleters and is a dashing branette. The young couple moved to Atlanta soon after the marriage. Capt. McGrath went to Warren ton from Charleston about four years ago and opened a general store, soon building up a prosperous business. He was about 40 years old and had a handsome wife. Ill feeling arose between Howell and McGrath a few months before the former's marriage, but when Howell and his bride left Atlanta, the matter was forgotten, until one morning in early June Howell suddenly appeared in Warrenton. He remained about the town three days, and it began to be whispered that trouble was brewing. As a sequel to this Capt. McGrath was seen to leave his store on the morning of June 11 and walk toward the Cours House with some mail matter in his hand. The Postoffice is in one room of the Court House. Howell was seated in the window of his brother in-law's store on the east side of the Court House. ps.00. Sent by mail preparation of the court of the court and care and case. With each order received by us for six boxes, accompanied with $5.00, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to refaund the money if the treatment does not effect a court of the conversation of the money if the treatment does not effect a court of the conversation of the of t Into his hunds is said to be very repulsive. Mrs. Howell told her husband at the time that Mc-Grath had persecuted her for a long time with letters of a similar character, and denied bitterly that her conduct had been such as to warrant ad-vances from McGrath. The defence will offer this letter and others of similar character as evi-dence of justification on Howell's part, and also dence of justification on Howell's part, and also will present witnessee whose testimony will devolop the fact that McGrath sent messengers to Atlanta to secure the address of Mr. Howell. On the other hand the State will introduce about twenty letters from Mrs. Howell to McGrath, one of which, it is claimed, invited the answer which fell into Howell's hands. Mrs. Howell was out riding with her sister Tuerday afternoon and appeared to be cheerful and happy.

AN AFFECTING COENE. - A pathetic little romance comes from Dayton, Ohio. When the New York express over the Big Four arrived, two men, one a young man apparently 25 and another middle aged, hurried from the gentlemen's waiting room to one of the cond-class coaches. At this moment s woman emerged from the car, and recognizing the younger of the two men, leaped from the car platform, and the next instant was clasped in his arms. Suddenly, and above the din, there was heard a wailing and cry from the woman in German. "Casper, baby is dead; baby is dead!" Then the women swooded in the arms of the father and her lover, and the tluy corpse of an infant fell from her arms to the depot floor. Then the noise of the heavy trucks ceased, and hackmen, passengers, and trainmen quickly gathered on the scene. The elder of the two men picked up the body of the infant and followed his companion, who, with assistance, was carrying the uncon scious woman into a waiting room. The woman scon revived, when there was a hurried conversation in German between he and the two men. The assemblage, which had gathered about the trio, swaited patientfor some explanation. None, however, was made and the eider man carrying the boy led the way to a back and the party was hurried from the scene and driven to a distaut quarter of the city. The girl is named Streeker and she came from Baden, Germany. She was betrayed by her lover, who met her. He skipped, rejented, and now they are united. The infant died aboard the train, but the mother clung to it with desperation, being afraid it would be taken from her if the truth was discovered.

A PHYSICIAN HORSEWHIPPED -Dr. T. S. Turner was horsewhipped in the barroom of a hotel in Hundington, L. I, on Monday by John McBrien, whose wife the doctor, according to his own confession, has wronged. Dr. Turcer left Huntington several months ago, after having confessed to being intimate with Mrs. McBrien. As a result of the disclosure, Mrs. Turner began a suit for divorce, and the case is now pending. Dr. Turner's departure from Huntington was hastened by the sentiment of the villagers being strongly against him. He took re-fuge in Brooklyn, where he made advances to his wife toward reconciliation. Dr. Turner appeared in Huntington Sunday night for the first time since his hasty flight. It is supposed his object was to seek an interview with his wife. MoB-lensaw him enter the Huntidgton Hotel the next day, and getting a whip from a harness store across the street followed him into the barroom, where he whacked him across the head and shoulders with the whip until the dcoror picked up a chair with which to defend himself. Speciators then interfered and further hostilities were prevented. The whip was broken in the scoffle. The whipping apparently did not have much effect on the doctor. After the row was over he coolly picked up a paper he had dropped, and, taking a seat, continued reading as if nothing had happened. He started for Brooking the same afternoon.
